

Education

If there is a way of improving oneself that has stood the test of time, then education takes home the prize every time. Dissemination of useful information always ensures that one has the tools to improve one's status in life.

For the youth especially, who today lack financial resources, a proper knowledge infrastructure will make us wealthy. Maybe not in the conventional sense, but ask any billionaire alive today what they would not give for ideas on what to do with their wealth. The most important resource you can ever have is your mind. It is the key to unlocking the beauty in your heart. It is the connector between ideas and action. And it is the least exploited tool in the economically challenged world in the pursuit of economic freedom.

That aside, conventional education ensures that basic life skills are availed and people are empowered to succeed in life. WYC® seeks to facilitate this process in any way, form or function:

- Literary educating by presenting online information through this website
- Providing education resources, both new and re-usable, for persons in urgent need.
- Establishment of regional ICT centres to tap into the link between information and development
- Peer educator programmes that use youth to educate youth, thereby utilizing an existing unexploited resource.
